BEFORE THE GAME

By Steve Snapp

Assistant Sports Information Director

A pair of modest but important winning streaks will be on the line here today when the Buckeyes and the University of Minnesota's Golden Gophers kickoff the 1973 football season.

Ohio State, winner of 11 of the 16 games played to date between the two schools, is seeking its fifth consecutive victory over Minnesota and sixth in seven tries under Head Coach Woody Hayes. The Gophers, on the other hand, closed out the 1972 campaign with a three game winning streak of their own and with that currently boast the longest unbeaten mark in the Big Ten. Both teams will be trying to extend those streaks today and, at the same time, get off to a good start in the Conference race.

The Buckeyes, who are aiming for their fifth Big Ten title in six years (two outright and two ties), will build their hopes around 17 returning regulars from last season's 9-2 co-championship team. Hayes has a total of 45 letter winners on hand as he begins his 23rd year at the Ohio State helm, and talent is plentiful on this Buckeye team.

All-American John Hicks will again anchor the offensive line. Hicks, a 6-3, 255-pound senior, is considered one of the premiere tackles in college football and Hayes calls him the best Ohio State lineman since Jim Parker.

Behind Hicks is an explosive backfield that includes defending national scoring champion Harold "Champ" Henson and last year's freshman sensation Archie Griffin. Henson set an OSU single season scoring record in 1972 with 20 touchdowns and is already within 17 of the Buckeyes' career TD mark. The workhorse fullback also carried the ball 193 times and rushed for 795 yards. Griffin was the team's leading rusher from his tailback spot with 867 yards, including a record shattering 239 against North Carolina.

The defense is headed by consensus All-America linebacker Randy Gradishar. Gradishar has responded favorably to off-season knee surgery and, if he can stay free of injuries, is a strong candidate for the coveted Heisman Trophy. Seniors Rick Middleton and Vic Koegel give the Buckeyes one of the finest linebacking trios in the nation.

Other standouts on the defensive unit include ends Van DeCree and Tom Marendt, tackle Pete Cusick and wide side halfback Neal Colzie.

Minnesota coach Cal Stoll (pronounced Stall) will begin his second year at Minneapolis with 25 lettermen, 13 of whom were regulars in 1972. The Gophers finished last season with a 4-7 record but were impressive down the stretch once they mastered the Veer-T offense introduced by Stoll. Their strong late season surge plus a good recruiting year has prompted many observers to rank Minnesota as the most improved football team in the Big Ten and a definite title contender in '73.

The man who provides the inside punch for the Veer-T is fullback John King. King rewrote the Minnesota record book last year with 1164 yards rushing and 76 points on 12 touchdowns and two conversions. The 6-1, 215-pound senior, who is the leading rusher among returning running backs in the Big Ten, finished second in the Conference rushing derby with 980 yards, an average of 122.5 yards a game.

Another Gopher that will bear watching is Junior College transfer Rick Upchurch who scored 25 touchdowns last year at Indian Hills Community College. Upchurch, billed as the most exciting new player in the Big Ten, set the Gopher defense on its ear during the spring game with five touchdowns and 214 yards rushing in 19 attempts. A halfback, Upchurch also doubles up on punt and kickoff returns.

One spot not yet filled is quarterback where the graduation of Bob Morgan left the Gophers without an experienced signal caller. Sophomore John Lawing is the heir apparent, but freshman Tony Dungy quarterbacked a Veer-T offense at Jackson, Michigan High School and will be very much in the running. Dungy comes to the Gophers with impressive credentials, including All-America honors, and Minnesota fans are hoping he can be the spark that ties the offense together.

The defense will have seven returning regulars to use as building blocks. Steve Neils, who led the team in tackles last year, returns at end and his coaches rate him as one of the best in the Big Ten.

Another strong spot is linebacker where Ollie Bakken, Mike Steidl and Paul Glanton all return after good spring performances.

The deep secondary graduated three regulars, but Stoll is hoping "one of the best ever freshmen classes at Minnesota" can help out in this area.

Both teams are talented and both teams are optimistic as they start the 1973 season. The result should be a grand football game in front of 84,000 plus fans in Ohio Stadium.

PLAYERS TO WATCH

MINNESOTA

JOHN KING — FULLBACK—Had a sensational year in 1972, setting Minnesota records for rushing (1164), scoring (76), and touchdowns (12) . . . The 6-1, 215, senior from Harvest, Alabama has great strength up the middle and is the perfect fullback for the Gophers' veer-t offense.

MATT HERKENHOFF — OFFENSIVE TACKLE — A 22-year-old senior from Melrose, Minnesota who was one of the Gophers' most consistent performers last season . . . at 6-4 and 257 he has an ideal blend of size and strength to play his position . . . Gopher coach Cal Stoll regards him as one of the finest tackles in the Big Ten and a "can't miss" pro prospect.

OHIO STATE

HAROLD HENSON — FULLBACK — Scored twenty touchdowns as a sophomore in 1972 to eclipse the Ohio State record of 17 held jointly by Jim Otis and John Brockington . . . Also set an OSU record for most carries in one game with 44 against Northwestern . . . has great power and speed . . . is almost unstoppable in a short yardage situation . . . did not lose a yard in 193 carries . . . finished the season with 795 yards rushing.

ARCHIE GRIFFIN — TAILBACK — The Buckeyes' other record setting back in 1972, Griffin established a single game rushing mark against North Carolina with 239 yards in 27 carries . . . finished his spectacular freshman year with a team high 867 yards rushing and a 5.4 average per carry . . . has great acceleration and is an excellent open-field runner . . . named to several pre-season all-America teams.

The University of Minnesota

The University of Minnesota, chartered in February 1851 by the Legislative Assembly of the Territory of Minnesota seven years before the Territory achieved statehood, will celebrate its one hundred and twenty-third anniversary in February, 1974.

The University of Minnesota ranked seventh among the leaders of the nation in enrollment during the past year with 49,929 full-time students on its five campuses during the fall quarter. During the 1972-73 academic year 27,107 students also attended University evening classes.

Dedicated to the task of training the youth of Minnesota, the University's success is measured in part by the more than 245,000 degrees that it has awarded to students who have studied in its classrooms and laboratories.

In addition to providing regular collegiate instruction for more than 50,000 students on its Minneapolis-St. Paul, Duluth, Rochester, Crookston, Morris, and Waseca campuses, the University, through its continuing education programs each year, gives specialized training to thousands of other Minnesotans. Last year, the University provided some form of instruction or educational service to approximately 200,000 individuals. Also, its staff members who are county agents, home agents, 4-H Club agents, and recreation and health consultants regularly assist citizens of the state in their home communities.

University students are constantly working on research of vital import to the future welfare of the state and the nation in the school's diverse research laboratories on its various college campuses, at the several agricultural experiment stations scattered throughout the state, and the Rosemount Research Center, the Cloquet Forest Research Center, the Cedar Creek Natural History Area at Bethel, the Horticultural Research Center and the Landscape Arboretum at Excelsior, the Lake Itasca Forestry and Biological Station, the Mayo Graduate School of Medicine at Rochester and the Hormel Institute at Austin.

Projects now being studied by University researchers include cancer, heart surgery, drainage control, gamma radiation, teacher training, municipal government, space physics, nuclear energy, modern mathematics, science courses for primary and secondary schools, and new creation of varieties in agricultural and horticultural species.

Cultural hub of the Upper Mississippi Valley area, the University is the home of the University Artists Course, radio station KUOM, the University Theatre and its Mississippi River Showboat, the Minnesota Orchestra and area performances of the Metropolitan Opera. Many of the programs televised by the Twin City Area Television service, KTCA-TV, Channel 2, star University faculty members.

Contribution to the University from the people of Minnesota have made possible the James Ford Bell Museum of Natural History, the Journalism School's Murphy Hall, the Variety Club Heart Hospital, the Children's Rehabilitation Hospital, and the Mayo Memorial Hospital. The American Legion and its Auxiliary have provided an endowed research professorship in heart disease. Other contributions have enabled the University to build the Masonic Memorial Hospital, the Veterans of Foreign Wars Cancer Research Center and Memorial Stadium.

DR. RICHARD MALL

The Ohio State University Athletic Department joins the entire University and its alumni in expressing sorrow at the death of longtime friend and associate Dr. Richard Mall.

Dr. Mall died of a heart attack on Aug. 28. He was 54 years of age. He had been associated with the University for more than a quarter of a century as a student, teacher and counselor. During that time he was also actively involved in community relations in Franklin County. Since 1967, he had served as director of alumni affairs and executive director of the Development Fund.

Dr. Mall prided himself on his friendship with the Athletic Department. He firmly believed in the value of intercollegiate athletics and availed himself of every opportunity to promote the Ohio State athletic program. He was a frequent speaker at appreciation banquets and other department affairs.

Dr. Mall was a loyal and enthusiastic Buckeye fan. He attended as many athletic contests as his busy schedule would permit, both home and away. He will be greatly missed.

College Rules Keep Pace with Game

by DAVID M. NELSON, Secretary-Editor, NCAA Football Rules Committee

There are some sports watchers who believe that the NCAA has a two-front offensive underway, one with the AAU and the other with professional sports. The offensive aimed at the pros is based on the NCAA constitutional provision that there must be a clear demarcation between college athletics and professional sports. Nowhere does the demarcation stand out more than in the differences in the football rules of the two groups.

Many Changes

The college game continues to be a dynamic, exciting contest catalyzed by rules changes that adapt to the cycles of the sport which are created by the increased speed, size and greater skills of the players. There are 180 changes listed for the last 15 years, covering everything from the scoring, (two-point conversion), the size of the goal posts (23' 4"), the timing of the game (starting and stopping the clock), a prohibition against blocking below the waist and at least one adjustment in each of the ten basic rules.

While keeping the game alive with innovative changes the NCAA and the National High School Federation have marched to the same drummer, making 73 changes in the last seven years to bring the two codes closer together. There have been very few rule changes in professional football since 1959. The only significant ones in 13 years were (1) the prohibition against grabbing the face mask, (2) the addition of the sixth official and (3) moving the hash marks 20 yards from the sideline. The demarcation between professional football and the college game was dramatically demonstrated by three games played on the West Coast last season. Take a look at the best of the two football worlds and see where the action is:

	USC- Notre Dame	Rose Bowl	Super Bowl
Game Totals
Final Score	45-23	42-17	14-7
Offensive Plays	136	134	116
Passing Yards	349	352	156
Rushing Yards	331	492	325
Total Yards	680	817	481
First Downs	37	45	28
Punts	11	9	12
Kickoffs	12	10	5
Punt Return Yards	17	0	13
Kickoff-Return
Yards	340	162	78
Touchdowns	10	8	3
Points	78	59	21

The National High School Federation and college football are not resting on their laurels and are annually adjusting their rules to the modern game. On the opposite page are the major NCAA changes in order of importance with capsule summaries in the turf handicapper's style.

The two most significant changes for 1973 are the substitution change and the permission given for each team to use its own ball. The change in the substitution rule to permit as many as eleven substitutes to enter the game while the ball is dead originated with the AFCA Football Rules Committee at their meeting in Chicago last January. The coaches have been clamoring for this completely free rule since 1965 when Rule 3-5-1 was changed to permit "platoon football."

Pleasant Surprise

After attempting without success for several years to get a more liberal rule, the coaches forgot about it. The sudden change came as a pleasant surprise to the coaching fraternity. The change will permit faster and smaller players to cover punts and will also permit faster, more agile players to rush the punt.

The officials will "burn a few barns" because they no longer have to check substitutes during the downs other than those where team possession changed. The Rules Committee was elated because three pages of nit-picking interpretations were deleted from the Official Rules Interpretations Book. Everybody seems happy, so the Rules Committee might have done something right for a change.

A change in the rule governing the type of ball that may be used in the game is another amendment that originated with the AFCA. Prior to the 1973 adjustment governing the type of ball used in the game, one brand or manufacture of ball meeting the rule specifications had to be used for the entire game. Coaches complained that one brand either felt different, spiraled differently, looked different, or had a peculiar odor; and these little things upset the passers and kickers so much they gave sub-par performances on the road. Previously, the home team had the choice of the ball to be used in a game.

Helium-Filled Ball?

The new rule raises several interesting questions including the violation of the old adage that you never allow an opponent to use his own ball,

Today's football officials are finding that they must hustle as much off the field as they do on, due to the ever-changing rules of the college game.

dice or cards. Also, it will be difficult to determine how many balls to take to a road game, especially if the visiting team scores six or seven touchdowns and kicks the conversions into the stands. Then there is the problem of handing a team a different ball when they are kicking out of their own end zone. This is the place you might get the one filled with helium or sand.

The Rules Committee is two for two with the coaches because of these changes. It pays to listen to the coaches who are usually right about one thing, i. e., how the game of football should be played.

The Latest Changes...

Rule Description

1-2-4 It is recommended that the area between the sideline and the limit line (6 feet) in the team area be marked solid white throughout.

Comment

This rule should keep people at the sideline from "stepping on the coaches' toes."

1-2-6 Eight flexible pylons of red or orange color (4" x 4" square x 18" high) must be used at the intersections of sidelines with goal lines and end lines (effective 1974 season).

With eight red pylons on the field, the dog who gets on the field will think he is in fire hydrant heaven.

1-3-2 During the entire game, either team may use a & ball of their choice when they are in possession.
Int.
Book

Using your own ball is almost as good as using your own dice or cards but you can't take your ball and go home.

1-4-4 Numbers at least 8 inches high on the front and 10 inches on the back of the jersey respectively must be worn. Ten inches in front and 12 inches in back are now legal.

Putting 12 inch numbers on 5'8" players is like putting Dick Butkus's jersey on Eddie LeBaron.

1-4-4 All players must wear securely fastened chin straps on their helmets.

This means the helmet can no longer go off without the head going with it and players won't lose their heads.

1-4-4 All players shall use an intraoral mouth protector composed of at least two portions, one an interocclusion portion and the other a labial portion.

There will be no evidence of teeth marks if a player bites an opponent.

1-4-5 Players with artificial arms, legs, or hands are (d) prohibited from playing.

Passers with glass arms are still legal and they get a break.

2-7-2 A valid fair catch signal is extending one hand and one arm above the head and waving them from side to side.
(Interpretation: Shading the eyes is an invalid signal unless given before or after a valid fair catch signal.)

What happens if the signal is given from side to side with one hand while shading the eyes with the other?

3-5-1 Any number of eligible substitutes may enter the game between periods, after a score or try, or when the ball is dead during an interval between downs.

With this change, substitutes and officials will no longer be waving at each other during substitutions.

3-5-2 An incoming substitute must enter the game from (c) his team area, and a replaced player must leave the game at the sideline of his team area.

If you want to join the opposing team at their bench when things get rough, it can't be done.

4-1-3 When Team A catches an illegal forward pass in (c) Team B's end zone, or when Team A completes a pass in Team B's end zone to an ineligible player, the ball is dead.

This makes legal what officials have done for years and have been telling the Rules Committee to get it in the Rules.

4-1-2 If a whistle is sounded inadvertently when the & ball is free on a fumble, the ball is returned to the Int. spot of last possession and given to the team that Book had possession of the ball at that spot.

Gives the official an escape clause, so he does not have to swallow his whistle when he has blown it inadvertently.

5-1-3 The ball shall always be spotted with its length axis parallel to the sideline before measuring. The ball will be placed parallel with the sideline.

This means there will be no more measurements that are on the bias.

BE A BIG TEN EXPERT IN '73

Have your own personal library of Big Ten publications. Now you can be a Big Ten Expert right in your own living room. No more running to the library or calling the local newspaper for the answer to that trivia question. And Christmas and other special occasion gift-shopping for that man or woman who has everything will be a breeze when you order one or all of the items in this year's Big Ten package.

CHEVY SUBURBAN

It never forgets it's a tough truck

OUR TRUCK FOR WAGON PEOPLE

It does more than a wagon can. Seats up to nine adults, all facing forward, when you order the available second and third seats. And there's still a generous cargo space behind the third seat.

Suburban can move a combined weight of 14,000 lbs. That includes the weight of the Suburban, passengers, cargo and trailer.

Chevy's massive Girder Beam front suspension and leaf rear springs are designed to help give you a smooth ride even when the road isn't.

You can order up to a 454 V8.

Get all the warm-weather comfort you need, front and rear, with an available dual unit air conditioner.

Power front disc brakes are standard and part of the Chevy brake program that matches brake design and size to load-carrying capacity.

If what you're taking along takes more than a wagon, take a good look at Chevy's Suburban.

Passenger car luxury, truck toughness.

Deep foam cushioning, rich upholstery fabric and vinyls. Extensive sound insulation. Wagon-type tailgate available with or without power window.

'POP' GO THE STUDENTS

By The Ohio State University News Services

For years, the mere mention of Ohio State athletics has been synonymous with gridiron action and Buckeye battlecries. Now the division of physical education is offering a new twist in adventure, as well as rigorous instruction, through its new Program in Outdoor Pursuits (POP).

About 300 students have participated in the 12 weekend and interim (between-quarter) courses offered since the program began last winter, with hundreds more on waiting lists. The rugged ranges of the Smokies, the clear blue waters of the Bahamas, and many state parks throughout the Midwest have already provided natural environments for classes in backpacking, scuba diving, canoeing, caving and cycling. Students earn up to three hours of credit for these courses, which seem to challenge their endurance at least as well as traditional physical education courses.

POP courses scheduled for this fall include two scuba diving trips, two cycling, two backpacking, one canoeing, one caving, and one kayaking trip, all to culminate in a skiing trip to Austria in December.

According to Mary Jo Ruggieri, instructor of physical education and head of the POP planning committee, Ohio State is one of the few universities in the country to offer such a program. Of those, she says Ohio State's is the most academically oriented.

"The whole concept of education is changing," she said. "The day is past when students can sit between four walls for four years and get a good education. Now, after they've learned the basics, they must move out into the world and test them. The whole theory behind POP is that if we motivate our students and give them a certain degree of expertise, learning will automatically take place."

Although learning through POP may appear "automatic," each course is deliberately structured. Students in the interim courses attend training sessions before leaving on the trips to learn such skills as first aid, care and selection of equipment, survival techniques, geography and map reading. Supervisors keep track of each student's development throughout the training sessions, with a final evaluation and grade at the end of the trip. For a typical class of 25 or 30 students, there is a minimum of four supervisors, including a head instructor. Supervisors are Ohio State faculty members, International Field Studies personnel and teachers from Columbus area high schools.

Frank Rife, a graduate associate and head instructor for several of the backpacking trips, commented: "One of the major things the program has emphasized in the pre-training sessions is first aid. So far we haven't had any serious accidents, and that's because the kids have been prepared."

Costs for the trips vary, depending on transportation and individual needs for equipment. There are fees, however, with the interim courses being the most expensive. Backpacking is about $100, with the scuba about $200. The highest fee of any weekend trip is $30.

Laden with extra parkas and wool socks, an Ohio State backpacker speculates on which part of the Appalachian Trail lies the most adventure.

Two Ohio State students practice their scuba diving techniques and marine biology knowledge off the coast of Andros Island in the Bahamas.

Building an organization is much like building a football team. You secure key personnel and use good coaching and concentrate on the fundamentals of the game, progress will appear and championship form can be attained.

Here in our agency, we have key personnel who have done a great job of recruiting quality men and women. Pictured on this page are some of the key personnel who do an excellent job of coaching and guiding our trainees into becoming successful, established career life underwriters. This is a career lifetime opportunity. Qualified individuals may be promoted to management. If you are a person who has a competitive background, has been serious about success and truly desires a career — not a job — why not call Michael J. Murray, Jr., C.L.U. or one of the other agency coaches of the Murray Agency.

OUR IRISH WALKING HAT

MADE EXCLUSIVELY FOR US IN IRELAND AND SCOTLAND

The Irish and Scottish cloth designers have long been famed the world over for their beautiful colourings and blendings of colours and much of their inspiration comes from their mountain-, land-, and sea-scapes.

These have set the standard for hat wearers in this country for many years.

Many of our patrons proudly tell us they have worn the same "walking hat" since their undergraduate days.

Available in Tweeds, Donegals, Cheviots,
Shetlands and Homespun.
